OUR CONCEPT

Does your hotel have the beds your guests expect?

What is at the top of every hotel guest's wish list?

A relaxing, refreshing sleep in a fresh, clean bed. With good suspension, a good mattress and wonderfully fresh bed linen. And nothing to remind them of the person who was in it just a few hours before. Can you offer your guests that?

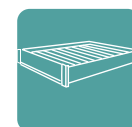

You can with sleepfactory*. We supply complete sleep systems or individual components for hotels – whatever you require. For beds that are as good as new every day because comfort, hygiene and handling are all balanced and the looks adapted to the individual hotel. In short: sleepfactory* helps your guests to sleep better.

Behind sleepfactory* are three innovative industrial companies from the bed industry with decades of experience. The optimum is easily achieved with their combined know-how. You receive a complete solution, not individual parts. It is based on complete competence. Because we know what is important in a hotel bed. From the suspension to the pillows, from comfort to hygiene, from the design to cost-saving functionality.

What is the result? Quality that gives your guests the best night's sleep. And offers you lots of benefits. Such as frequent and enthusiastic recommendations of your hotel.

SLEEP COMFORT

Are all your guests comfortable?

No two guests are the same. They all have different requirements. They all sleep differently. Imagine if your beds could be adapted to suit the most individual wishes of your guests, and offer each one of them the ideal comfort. Would that not be a tremendous plus point for your hotel?

The new hotel bed system by sleepfactory* helps guests to sleep better, and gives you added value because you can offer your guests greater comfort and individuality. Today this is the foundation for a successful stay in a hotel. For instance, guests can easily set the hardness of the suspension to suit themselves. That way they can choose a harder or softer base – just like they have at home.

And it goes without saying that a bed like makes lying-in even more appealing. And that hotels with the best beds are more popular than others is something that is soon passed around.

Optimum comfort is a question of systematics. To achieve the “dream” bed in which you sleep like a king, everything has to be taken into account and even apparently irrelevant details solved perfectly.

And this all-round comfort is what you get from sleepfactory*. We understand as much about the whole thing as we do about the individual components. The latest suspension, mattresses with multi-zone flexibility (up to 7), protective covers in innovative materials – everything matches everything else, creating the perfect bed experience.

To make sure your guests feel more comfortable in these dream beds than ever before, our system is completed with the corresponding pillows, duvets and covers in modern heat-regulating materials.

Perfect relaxation for the guest – a good argument for the appropriate accommodation rate. Do you often ask your guests how they slept? With sleep factory* beds, you’ll regularly get top marks.

HYGIENE IN BED

What does hygiene safety mean to you?
Is cleanliness just what you can see?

Are you sure you are really giving your guests a clean bed?

If you have different people sleeping in your beds every night, then you must ensure that the highest hygiene standards are observed. That's why our leitmotif is: today's guest must not come into contact with what yesterday's guest has left behind.

Microbes, fungus and mites can create lots of work. Today, modern materials support you with hotel-appropriate hygiene – if they are used as consistently as by sleepfactory* and the hotel bed system that helps guests to sleep better.

It starts with the special coating on the suspension, which is particularly easy to clean hygienically. And we provide double protection on mattresses, which are at particular risk. We use Medicott® covers to provide immunity against one of the worst bed enemies: mould – the material efficiently blocks it from settling and spreading. And our newly developed mattress protectors in Evolon microfibres prevent perspiration, dead skin cells and microbes from getting anywhere near the mattress – while maintaining a breathable, beneficial bed climate.

Effect: health care for your guests that also protects your investment and saves you from expensive mattress cleaning bills.

It's the many little ideas and improvements that really turn a bed into a proper hotel bed.

HANDLING THAT SAVES TIME

Would you like to earn more in less time?

As a hotelier you already know: a good hotel bed should cause the minimum in operating costs. Every minute that your staff saves making beds increases your operational efficiency.

Our new hotel bed system helps guests to sleep better, and is so well developed – down to the smallest detail – that it will save you time and money for a long time to come. The beds are designed so that your chambermaids can change them in moments.

Maximum time is saved with our specially developed link systems for double beds. The link opens in a single movement of the hand to roll the beds apart. This speeds up changing the bed linen and cleaning. And you have greater flexibility in utilising the rooms. You can make the “double bed or single bed” decision every day as the need arises. And ensure that only one bed is changed if a double room is used as a single.

Clever: the link system is functional, and the castors at the top of the bed make life easier.

Planned down to the details: the numbers on the corners of the mattresses help with orientation when turning them.
